BALUCHISTAN HUMAN RIGHTS REPORT – May 2025

This report documents the alarming human rights violations occurring in Balochistan, with a particular focus on enforced disappearances and extrajudicial killings. The cases reveal a consistent pattern of state-led repression, unlawful detentions, and targeted executions by Pakistani security forces. Based on verified reports from May 2025, the evidence reflects a sharp deterioration in the human rights situation across the region, with Baloch civilians, activists, students, and political workers increasingly subjected to intimidation and violence.

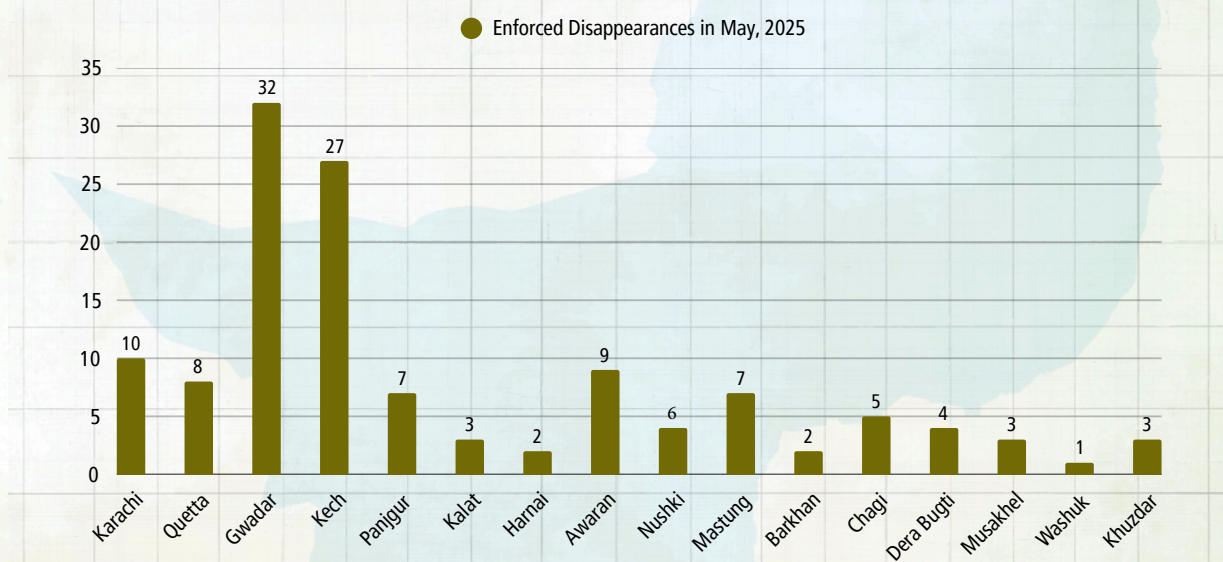

Despite repeated appeals from international human rights organisations such as Amnesty International, as well as findings and urgent calls by United Nations experts, the Pakistani state continues to disregard basic human rights in Balochistan. These warnings have failed to halt the wave of state-sponsored oppression. Enforced disappearances remain alarmingly high, with individuals taken without warrants, held incommunicado, and often subjected to torture. The families of the missing are left without answers or recourse to justice, living in constant fear and uncertainty.

Arbitrary detention of prominent Baloch figures continues unchecked. Activists and leaders such as Dr Mahrang Baloch, Sibghat Ullah Baloch, Gulzadi Baloch, Beeberg Baloch, and Bebow Baloch have been unlawfully detained, often without formal charges or access to legal representation. Their only 'crime' appears to be speaking out against injustice or demanding rights for the Baloch people. These actions form part of a broader campaign to silence dissent and crush the democratic voice of the Baloch nation. The international community must no longer remain silent in the face of these ongoing abuses.

Analysis of Extrajudicial Killings in Balochistan

In Balochistan, Pakistan's security forces are carrying out extrajudicial killings—that means people are being killed without a legal trial or court order. The state uses this practice as a double-edged strategy.

1. Targeting Missing Persons

Many people who were already forcibly disappeared by the state are now being killed and falsely labeled as militants. The government claims these people died in encounters (gunfights) and were involved in fighting against the state. This allows the authorities to say that the issue of "missing persons" doesn't really exist because those individuals were not in custody, but rather active rebels. This narrative undermines the efforts of families who are demanding the safe return of their loved ones.

2. Boosting the Army's Image

At the same time, the state uses these killings to improve the image of the military and raise public support. By claiming that they are eliminating "anti-state elements," they make it seem like the army is protecting the country from internal threats. This portrayal is often used to gain public sympathy and justify the use of force.

3. Denying Families Closure

In many cases, the state does not hand over the bodies to the families. Instead, the victims are buried in unknown graveyards, making it hard for families to confirm the death or mourn properly. This adds to their pain and prevents any legal investigation or justice.

Conclusion & Appeal to the International Community

The month of May 2025 reflects a disturbing escalation in Pakistan's policy of repression in Balochistan. The documented cases of 128 enforced disappearances, 27 extrajudicial killings, and the use of death squads to terrorize civilians—especially women and children—reveal a deeply rooted and systemic violation of human rights.

These acts are not isolated. They form part of a calculated state strategy aimed at silencing dissent, criminalizing legitimate political expression, and erasing the Baloch identity through violence and fear. The use of extrajudicial killings as a propaganda tool—portraying missing persons as militants killed in staged encounters—both discredits the families' peaceful struggle and boosts the military's image in the public eye. The denial of dead bodies to families and the secret burials further reflect the state's intent to eliminate not just lives but also truth and accountability.

Despite repeated appeals by international human rights organisations and UN bodies, Pakistan continues to act with impunity, ignoring its international obligations and the calls for justice. Activists, students, and political leaders remain under constant threat, detained without legal cause, and punished merely for demanding basic rights.

Furthermore, we call upon the European Union to urgently review Pakistan's eligibility for the GSP+ trade scheme, which grants preferential trade access based on adherence to international human rights commitments. The ongoing abuses in Balochistan are a clear breach of these obligations.

The findings in this report make one thing clear: Balochistan is under siege, not by an external force, but by the very state meant to protect its citizens. The international community must no longer remain passive. Silence enables the continuation of these crimes. Urgent international pressure and intervention are needed to stop the cycle of disappearances, torture, and state-sponsored executions in Balochistan before more lives are lost and more families shattered.

Stand with Balachistan. Stand for human rights.
